DETAILED ACTION

1. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Priority

2. In view of Applicant's amendment and arguments submitted 13 August 2004, the Examiner's objection to the specification and priority claim is hereby withdrawn.

Claim Objections

3. The objections set forth in the previous Office action have been overcome.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by McIntyre (US 4,097,012).
 - a. Claim 1. McIntyre shows and discloses a plurality of rotatably positionable bracket assemblies 30, each of said bracket assemblies 30 including a pair of "L" brackets 30, each of the "L" brackets 30 having a first leg 32 and a perpendicular second leg 31; rigid fasteners A for removably joining together the first legs 32 of said "L" brackets 30, wherein the first legs 32 of said "L" brackets 30 are separated by space, and rotatable fasteners 23a for rotatably fastening the second leg 31 of one of said "L" brackets 30 to said structure 22 and for rotatably fastening the second leg 31 of the other "L" bracket 30 to said support 20,11. (see figure 1 and annotated figure 4 below).

- b. Claim 2. McIntyre further shows said rotatable fasteners 23a an assembly screw 23a and an insert 33 (see figure 1 above).
- c. Claim 3. McIntyre further shows said insert 33 is a threaded insert and said assembly screw 23a screws into said threaded insert 33 (see figure 1 above).

Art Unit: 3679

- d. Claim 4. McIntyre further shows said rigid fasteners A comprise machine screws A (see annotated figure 4 above).
- e. Claim 5. McIntyre further shows said bracket assemblies 30 having a common axis of rotation (see figure 1 above – the axis running longitudinally through members 23a).
- f. Claim 6. McIntyre further shows said second legs 31 of each pair of said “L” brackets 30 rotatably fastened to said structure 22 further comprises at least one ear 32 for manual positioning of said fastening system (see annotated figure 4 above).
- g. Claim 7. McIntyre further shows said rigid fasteners A adapted for connecting a first bracket assembly 30 to a second bracket assembly 30 in at least two positions along a rotational axis (see the figures above).

Double Patenting

- 5. In view of Applicant’s arguments, the provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection is hereby withdrawn.

Response to Arguments

- 6. The Examiner first notes that Section IV of Applicant’s response (page 5) shows the heading “Rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. §102(e)”. For clarification, claims 1-7 were rejected under 35 USC §102(b) as being anticipated by McIntyre.

7. Applicant's arguments filed 13 August 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The claims as currently drafted do not positively recite the various elements as being connected, and therefore do not unequivocally require a particular configuration. For example, claim 1 recites a plurality of L brackets having first and second legs, a rigid fastener for removably joining the first legs, and rotatable fasteners for rotatably fastening the second legs to a support and a structure. The dependent claims are not seen to further limit the independent claim in terms of positively reciting the particular connecting relationship of one element relative to the others.

Thus, in response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., rigid fasteners removably joining together the first legs of "L" brackets) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Accordingly, McIntyre, as applied above in detail, is understood to show and disclose each of the aforementioned elements as recited in the claims.

Conclusion

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
